Announcing the latest release of Budfox for iOS

The app proposes a secure chat and group and helps to identify and build your network, find partners, and share your products and services.

Users must work in a financial company or organization (regardless of the position) to register on Budfox.

Budfox keeps communication safe, and can't read users messages or media files. Users are entirely free to clear all chats history and create a secret chat set to disappear (self-destruction timer). The start-up is currently integrating end-to-end encryption with the highest level of security on the market (QR code, PIN code exchange between the two parties, and identity privacy). A team of PhDs develops this secure technology in Cryptography.

Last but not least, the company is not owned by any bank or commercial organization, to provide total independence without any conflict of interest.

THE FINANCIAL SOCIAL NETWORK

"Unlike Bloomberg Messenger and Symphony, Budfox is owned by independents and was created by a former trader. We want to democratize instant messaging for the world of finance, as WhatsApp has done globally."

Tristan de Haenen - Founder & CEO
