

Liventus Releases New Recruitment Video

NORTHBROOK, Ill, September 12, 2017— Liventus is proud to announce the release of its recruitment video highlighting the technology solutions company's dedication to hiring talented professionals and creating an exceptional team and work environment.

"Liventus has grown into an incredible company with a fantastic culture that is made evident in this video," said Liventus President Dan Levin. "Our team of talented professionals that exceed client expectations every day shows our commitment to adding top talent. I look forward to further growing this company with the help of new additions."

The video features interviews of employees explaining the history, culture, and the growth trajectory of the company. Management interviews offer a look into the structure and benefits of joining the team. The video can be viewed at liventus.com/aboutus.

Liventus began in 2002 as a way to support the technological needs of its sister companies and quickly grew into a full-service firm offering technology services to businesses around the world. The company has seen exponential growth over the past several years and now has 75 employees located in offices in the US and India.

Liventus offers companies of all sizes a wide range of technology services including, but not limited to:

- Application development
- Managed solutions
- Advisory services
- CRM Development

In order to better serve their growing client base in these areas and more, Liventus continually seeks to add talented professionals to their team. To see the latest openings and to learn how to join the ever-growing company, visit careers.liventus.com.

For the latest Liventus news or for more information regarding their services, visit www.liventus.com

ABOUT LIVENTUS

Liventus is a full-service Business Solutions Technology company offering clients teams of developers, graphic designers, marketing professionals, network managers, and business consultants to help with all their business needs. For over ten years, Liventus has been dedicated to ensuring all clients reach their business potential through the use of custom developed software created to meet their unique requirements. Liventus' in-depth knowledge of both business and technology differentiates them from others. Liventus prides itself on their ability to provide superior services and exceed expectations. For more information, visit www.liventus.com.

###