SimplePart designs, implements and manages consumer-facing e-commerce programs in the US and Canada for many of the world's top automakers, helping them increase their sales of genuine automaker parts, accessories and service.

SimplePart's intuitive, purpose designed e-commerce platform provides automaker and dealer customers a branded website, online store and digital marketing support to power successful e-commerce programs. The leading-edge platform also includes sophisticated production systems that can catalogue complex automaker data and provides extensive reporting and insights to increase aftersales revenue; features not commonly available with other e-commerce solutions.

Infomedia's CEO, Mr Jonathan Rubinsztein said: "This is a very exciting acquisition as auto e-commerce is a strategic extension of our core global offering. SimplePart enables Infomedia to further penetrate the automaker parts ecosystem and transforms our presence in the Americas.

"SimplePart delivers a leading capability in OEM² and dealer e-commerce solutions and uniquely positions Infomedia to provide our shared customer base with an expanded range of market leading business-to-business and business-to-consumer parts, service and data insights solutions. With SimplePart, we can offer a total solution.

"SimplePart is profitable, cash flow generative and growing in North America. Our opportunity is to support that growth trajectory and offer our combined customer base additional products and value adding SaaS solutions in all the regions in which Infomedia operates.

“We look forward to welcoming the SimplePart team into the Infomedia family and working together to continue pursuing growth opportunities globally.”

SimplePart founder, Cole Getzler, together with its President, Michael Oki, will continue to run the business from its base in Atlanta, Georgia.

“This transaction is a unique opportunity for SimplePart to partner with a global leader in parts and service software that shares our philosophy of developing and delivering innovative, industry-leading fixed operation solutions. We are looking forward to sharing our solutions globally, an opportunity every entrepreneur looks to pursue for the benefit of the business and the team”, Mr Getzler said.

Under the terms of the agreement, Infomedia will acquire 100% of SimplePart for a purchase price comprising upfront consideration of USD $24.5 million plus an earn-out of up to USD $20.5 million which will be calculated based on SimplePart’s EBIT over three years and paid in three annual instalments.

The upfront consideration will be funded from Infomedia’s existing cash reserves. The earn-out will be paid in cash subject to Infomedia having a right to settle up to 20% of each earn-out payment in Infomedia shares.

The transaction is expected to be EPS accretive from the first full year of acquisition on a pro forma basis.

The transaction is subject to satisfying customary closing conditions. It is anticipated that these conditions will be met on or before 30 June 2021.

Infomedia continues to assess further acquisition targets with a focus on assets that enhance its core platform offerings; extend its capabilities; open access to new customers; and increase its reach in key geographic markets.
