For the average 30 year-old person, odds are 95 out of 100 that he or she will suffer from a degenerative condition.

The majority of degenerative conditions have several aspects in common, which can be improved by making healthy lifestyle choices.

Common causes include: poor diet, environmental pollution, living conditions, genetics and lack of exercise. Identifying the elements that are off balance in your life allows you begin to reverse the inevitable odds.

Where Do I Start?

If you only follow the first four steps, you will see a substantial increase in your focus, stamina, happiness and energy.

However, we recommend that you complete all six steps to experience the fantastic benefits of "tonic herbalism," an ancient Chinese system of healthy aging.
