The City of Douglas, Georgia is expanding its partnership with ESG Operations, Inc. to include the Street Department along with Construction, Stormwater and Sanitation divisions. ESG has proudly served the City of Douglas since 2015 by providing water treatment, water distribution, wastewater treatment, wastewater collection and meter reading services. Currently, 27 associates serve on Team Douglas. The expanded partnership will add 26 new employees to the ESG family.

“We have been honored to serve Douglas for the past 3 years and are very excited for the opportunity to expand our partnership with this great city by providing these additional public works services,” commented John Eddlemon, ESG Senior Vice President and Partner.

“I’m very appreciative of the great job Team Douglas has performed in the City’s community since 2015. Our associates’ consistent professionalism and strong work ethic played a key role in the City deciding to trust ESG with operating its Public Works Department,” stated Tony Johnson, ESG Vice President, Community Outreach and Governmental Affairs.

“The City of Douglas is committed to providing our citizens and community with state-of-the-art services along with exemplary customer service. We are glad to expand our partnership with ESG to the delivery of Public Works. I am confident that ESG will bring the same level of professionalism and service delivery to this department that they have demonstrated in the operation and management of our water and wastewater systems,” stated Mayor Tony Paulk, City of Douglas, Georgia.
