Healthyr Announces Partnership with SDVOSB Maness Veteran Medical

LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY, March 2023 – Healthyr, a Louisville-based virtual health company has entered a partnership with Maness Veteran Medical, a Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Business (SDVOSB) that will offer greater healthcare solutions to veterans, through the VA.

“Our mission is to drive positive health change and outcomes by providing affordable and accessible health solutions to all individuals through a single, easy-to-use platform,” said Stacey Finster, CEO of Healthyr. “Through that platform we deliver early identification of disease, valuable health insights, actionable interventions, and eliminate gaps in care.”

Healthyr was launched to provide health equity through virtual at-home health solutions.

Easier access to viable healthcare addresses a variety of concerns for veterans, including proximity to healthcare facilities, age, disability, chronic illness, and transportation barriers.

“The direct connection between Maness Veteran Medical and Healthyr will allow veterans greater access to medical care,” Johnathan Maness, CEO of Maness Veteran Medical. “With this partnership, we’re able to bridge the gap in access, working with the VA to serve all those who served our nation.”

The partnership commences in March 2023.
