Introducing Vanguard Industries: A Direct Source for Cleaning Chemicals

Wholesale online retailer provides specialty cleaning and disinfecting chemicals to businesses, schools, public and institutional settings

August 20, 2020 (Modesto, California) - Modesto, Calif. manufacturer Vanguard Industries is introducing itself to the cleaning chemical market by launching two new wholesale packages for back-to-school and back-to-business needs.

The company – a specialty chemical manufacturer and distributor – provides wholesale cleaning products to retail, restaurant and institutional customers. The proprietary products are among the strongest and most effective cleaning chemicals available, formulated by chemists with decades of experience.

“Businesses and schools that have re-opened or planning to re-open need high-quality hand and surface sanitizers to ensure they are keeping students, visitors and employees safe,” said Phil Short, Customer Service Manager for Vanguard Industries. “Our products are strong and effective, many of them are also food-grade quality and ideal for settings with high traffic and consumer interaction.”
