PRODUCERS OF MILITARIA SHOWS START NEW L.A. VINTAGE RENDEZVOUS SHOW AT FAIRPLEX

Strong historical clothing element at October 12th-13th Show

VINTAGE PRODUCTIONS HAS added a new show to their resume—L.A. Vintage Rendezvous—which debuts October 12th and 13th at Fairplex in Pomona.

This is a brand new vintage clothing and collectible show, but owners Bob and Danielle Chatt are old pros with 30 years of industry experience. They also own and promote The San Diego Historical Militaria Collectors Show for eight years, the RBF Collectibles Show in Pomona for two years, and the West Coast Historical Militaria Collectors Show in Pomona, which has continuously been running for the last 10 years at Fairplex.

■ The new show will be held in the recently remodeled and upgraded Building 5.

■ Dealers are still coming on board, but those already on the list are:

BRIAN COHEN of Snappy Gabs and Vintage On Hollywood (items featured in middle photo); John Gluckow of Strongarm Clothing and Supply; Ross Kuhn and Michael Maker of Big Foot and Wild Boy; Rin Tanaka of My Freedamn and the Inspiration LA show; Paul Cunningham of Vintage Clothing Research in London; Kathleen Schaaf of Meow Vintage; Margo Essman of Bungalow Blondie; Elizabeth Jones and Lloyd Tripp of Sugar Shack Vintage in Texas; Adriana Davis of Frecklebug Vintage; Mike Karberg of Blue Mirror Vintage; James Maley of Atom Age and The Glendale All American Toy and Advertising Show; Hitoshi Yamada of Archives in Japan; Michael Lara of Mikos Thread Salvage; Utaka Imamura of Tidemark in Japan; James Riley of American Blues Trading @americanblustrading; Randy Jones of Tiki Ranch Vintage; Stan and Constance Garvey of Recursive Chic; Clutch Magazine from Japan; Robert Alvarez of Straight 8 Vintage; Ron Ede of Junk for Joy; Tim Robbins of Wild Blue Yonder Collectibles in Arizona.

■ The show is open to the public on Friday, October 12th from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday, October 13th from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Early bird passes are available during dealer load-in from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday.

DEALERS

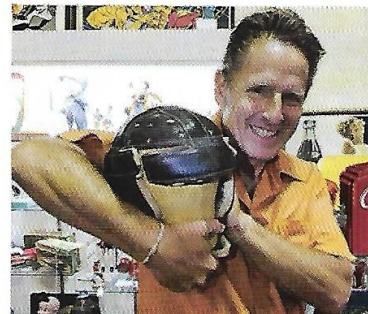

All-American Collector Show dealers will be at L.A. Vintage Rendezvous

Vintage fashion and railroad ephemera

ALL-AMERICAN SHOW DEALERS Margo Essman and Jim Maley will be setting up at the premiere L.A. Vintage Rendezvous slated for October 12th and 13th at Fairplex in Pomona.

All-American Show co-owner Jim Maley is especially enthusiastic about the new show's vintage workwear slant.

He is going to be bringing a vintage advertising that shows of vintage uniforms and fashion, including an early 1920s advertising fan for Ellwood J. Boehm car batteries, which features a well-dressed lady standing on the side panel of her car and using her binoculars to look at some biplanes. He hopes it flies off for $65.

Maley will also be bringing a high school-sized leather football helmet.

Margo Essman recently acquired a 2,500 piece toy train catalog collection including catalogs and flyers

SHE DEBUTED A number of the 1950s and '60s mint pieces, some in original boxes and wrappers, at the August All-American Show, and she will be bringing some of her best catalogs, booklets and brochures to the Rendezvous.

bought over 2,500 amazing toy catalogs and they look like they came out the of print shop," she said. Included in her inventory is a 40-page catalog featuring Lionel Trains with Magne Traction from 1956, a 48-page Gilbert American Flyer Catalog from 1957, a 1958-59 American Flyer fold-open poster catalog that features 16 panels, and a 72-page Lionel train catalog from 1961.

She would be willing to sell the whole lot for $7,500. "That's a steal because these usually sell for $40 to $48 a piece."

She purchased the collection from Jack White, broadcaster and magician from the San Diego area. His mother had a toy shop and train store from the 1940s through the 1970s, and when she retired, her son took over and put the toy train ephemera into storage.
